Points of Understanding for a Successful Home Stay (Spring 2019)

Below are issues concerning home stays. Read these points carefully and place a check in each box to confirm that you clearly understand what is expected of you during the time in your new family.

- I understand that living in a Japanese family in a Japanese home will be a very different experience for me than I have been used to in the past in my home country.

- I agree to make every attempt to understand my host family's point of view and respect the family structure and the functioning of the household so as not to cause undue disturbances to the family's daily life.

- I understand that though my host family is being paid a sum of money for my home stay, this is not a commercial transaction per se, but rather this money is in the spirit of compensation for the extra expenses my host family will incur during my stay in their home.

- I understand that out of concern for my personal safety, my host family may impose a curfew, similar to what they would impose on their own son or daughter.

- I understand that the food I will be served will be the same food that is prepared for the rest of the family and that I should not demand changes to the content of the meals on my behalf.

- I understand that I will not receive lunch time meals from my host family.

- I understand that vegetarian diets are difficult to accommodate and that special diets are not guaranteed to be available in any homes.

- I agree to keep my host family promptly apprised of changes in my daily plans so that they will not be concerned about my absence.

- I understand that by coming home after the family's usual dinner time may mean that I forfeit that evening's meal.

- I understand that each host family is different and will treat their student differently. I agree to respect those differences and not excessively compare my housing situation with that of others.

- I understand that I must ask my host family's permission if I wish to invite guests to visit me in my accommodation.

- I understand that it is impossible to find housing for all students exactly the same distance from the college, and I believe that every neighborhood has positive aspects to recommend it.

- I understand that all telephone calls, even local calls, are toll charged in Japan, and that the cost of using the telephone is not expressly covered by the accommodation fee. Therefore, I will endeavor to come to a clear understanding of the home's telephone usage and the responsibility to pay fees. Certainly, I will always ask permission before using the telephone.

- I understand that an Internet connection in the accommodation is not guaranteed.

I agree to keep my room tidy and to not leave my belongings unnecessarily around the house.

I agree to respect the privacy of my host family and will not take photos or video of the home or family and/or post them online without permission.

I understand that in the case of irreconcilable differences, I may request to leave my host family during the term by submitting a petition one month in advance. I also understand that if I wish to move earlier, I will still be charged a month's home stay fee from the day of my request or the remainder of the fee if less than a month is remaining in the home stay period.

I understand that failure to get along with my host family will most likely mean that I will be placed in the university dormitory or other housing.

I understand that, if I am asked to leave a host family at the instigation of the host family, I may petition the Program to attempt to find a new host family.

I understand that, in the case of sickness or other safety concerns, my housing situation may be changed appropriately.

I understand that, in the case of a request by myself or my host family to change housing, I will be responsible for related dormitory and/or housing fees associated with my new housing, including entry fees, rent, utilities, and other regular expenses.

I understand that failure to abide by the rules of this secondary housing situation could jeopardize my place in the JASIN Program.

I understand that my housing is only guaranteed for the period specified by the university in my home stay acceptance materials (usually the first day of orientation to the last day of the semester and/or semester break per my housing request) and that I must pay a daily rate (prorated from the monthly rate of 70,000 yen) in order to extend my home stay. I also understand that I must work through the university to arrange a home stay extension and that the maximum extension is 7 days.

I understand that I am responsible for any related charges if I break or damage any part of my host family's home or their belongings.

(To be signed at time of application)

I have read and understand the "Points of Understanding for a Successful Home Stay." I will abide by the Housing Policy and do my best to follow the advice in the Points of Understanding so that I can experience a fruitful stay in Nagasaki.
